TUFTS 34--MIDDLEBURY 0

Medford College Takes One-sided Contest.

Last Saturday Middlebury was defeated by the strong Tufts team 34-0. There is no question but that Tufts has a better team, but the Midd. men put up a very loose and poor game of football and actually presented the home team with a couple of touchdowns.

There were times when Midd. showed signs of power but they were too far apart to produce results. The men seemed slow in startlng and could not size up the somewhat bewildering attacks of their opponents. Tufts worked pass practically all of the time and made some of her best gains directly through center by means of this play. One of her best ground-gainers was for her quarter-back to fake a pass to one of the backs and then make a complete revolution, so that he could plunge straight through center.

Neither team was very successful with the forward pass, although Middlebury just missed a touchdown by means of this play when on the Tufts ten yard line. Frequent fumbling and penalties for offside play slowed the game up somewhat, but there was enough action most of time to keep the spectators interested.

Tufts took the heart out of the Midd. team when Doan went through center for fifty yards and a touchdown in the very first minute of play. This score was followed by another within a few minutes when Tufts kept plugging the line for consistent gains.

Middlebury put up a much better game during the remainder of the half but was not strong enough to keep their opponents from scoring again.

In the third period Midd. started off with a rush and obtained the ball on the Tufts 22 yard line, when a Tufts punt was blocked by one of her own men. Bowers rushed for a first down on the 15 yard line but Condit dropped a forward pass when tackled near the goal line.

After a few rushes Tufts fumbled and Bowers made a fine recovery for Midd. on the Tufts 35 yard line. Keefe bucked the line for four yards and then a forward pass from Bowers was missed by Bailey who was standing directly on the goal line This was the best opportunity Midd. had to score but she was not equal to the task.

Tufts was forced to kick and Midd. rushed the ball back to the Tufts 40 yard line where an intercepted forward forward pass gave the home team the ball. By a series of end runs and line bucks another score was chalked up.

The final tally was made just before the close of the game when Wescott caught Condit's punt on his own 20 yard line and went through the whole Midd. team for the prettiest run of the day. It was the best individual work of the day and by a whirlwind backfield man.

For Tufts, Wescott, Parks and Doane stood out conspicuously, while Bower and Bresnahan excelled for Middlebury.

SOPHS. VS. FRESHIES.

Strenuous Grapple Won by First Year Men.

Time—2 p. m.

Place—The Green between Painter Hall and the Old Chapel Building.

Occasion—The annual Hat Scrap between the Freshmen and Sophomores.

Details: With the pea-green freshmen lined up against Painter Hall and the rough-and-ready sophomores holding their places along the old chapel building, the annual hat scrap was ready to take place. When the hat was placed midway between the two hostile lines and the signal given, the men of '18 and the men of '19 became very familiar with each other. The scrap lasted three minutes but it took twice that amount of time to untangle the snarl of humanity. However, when this task was finished the 1919 men were discovered to be victorious, the score being 4 to 3 in their favor.

The freshmen victors were Jenne, Sheperdson and Osteyee. Jenne had both hands on the hat, the other two had one hand each on the hat. Dake and Allyn carried away the honors for the sophomores, Dake having both hands on the hat and Allyn one.

Many little battles took place on the side-lines. One very noticeable one was a freshman holding two sophomores on the ground during the entire scrap.

College Dance.

The first college dance of the season was held in the gymnasium Saturday evening, October 9. There was a large attendance—about sixty couples. The Stevens football men were invited. The excellent music furnished by Vittum's orchestra added to the enthusiasm which is always felt at the first dance of the year. The patrons and patronesses were Miss Ross, Mr. and Mrs. MacGilton, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes.

Sigma Kappa Celebrates Anniversary.

On Sunday eyening, October 10th, the members of the Sigma Kappa Sorority took supper at Happen Inn in observation of the fourth anniversary of the installation of Nu Chapter in Middlebury.

Junior Class Meeting.

A meeting of the Junior class was held in the Hemicycle, Monday, October 11, 1915. The following officers were chosen by the class :

President, Mr. Horsford.
Vice-President, Miss Linnell.
Treasurer, Mr. Vaughn.
Secretary, Miss Frost.

Cross County Run.

Middlebury's interest in cross country running will be revived on Saturday when the first hill and dale race in a number of years will be held, with a fair sized bunch of competitors. The race will be run off previous to the New Hampshire-Middlebury football game.

INTER-CLASS TRACK MEET

Freshmen Win Meet with Juniors Second.

Although many of the upperclass-track men did not enter the meet held last week, there were enough freshmen out to make the events fairly interesting. The track was necessarily very slow and none of the men were in condition to show their best. Several of the freshmen, however, showed enough to prove that they would come in handy in the spring meets.

Jones, Tatro and Darby of the new men gave good performances. Jones easily walked off with the half and two-mile runs, while Tatro tied for first in the high jump, for second in the pole vault, and placed second in the shot put. Darby was boxed in the "hundred" and could not show what he had, but in the "two-twenty" he came through a winner in easy fashion.

Lee, Hollister and Paulsen were up to their old tricks of going into everything and getting away with it, showing they had not gone back to any noticeable degree during the summer.

With practically all of last year's team back and the new men to fill in the gaps, besides a coach to keep the men in condition during the winter, the prospects surely look good for a very successful season:

Sum mary:

100-Yard Dash: Lee, '17, first; Stearns, '18, second; Darby, '19, third.

220-Yard Hurdles: Cheesman, '19, first; Reuther, '19, second; Mitchell, '17, third.

880-Yard Run: Jones, '19, first; Hollister, '17, second; Cullen, '19, third.

220-Yard Dash: Darby, '19, first; Stearns, '18, second; Bolivar, '19, third.

Two-Mile Run: Jones, '19, first; Mitchell, '17, second.

Running High Jump: Tatro, '19, and Paulsen, '16, tied for first; Lee, '17, second.

440-Yard Dash: Hollister, '17, first; Christian, '18, second.

Shot Put: Paulsen, '16, first; Tatro, '19, second; Davis, '17, third.

Pole Vault: Paulsen, '16, first; Lee, '17, and Tatro, '19, tied for second.

Discus; Tatro, '19, first; Bolivar, '19, second.

Broad Jump: Lee, '17, first; Hollister, '17, second; Paulsen, '16, third.

Athletic Association Meeting.

A meeting of the Women's Athletic Association was held Friday, October 8. The constitution was read by the President and was signed by the new members. Helen Linnell, '17, was elected vice-president in place of Miss Leland. Alice Harriman, '17, was chosen as manager of basketball.

Elects Officers.

The results of the Tuesday Evening Club elections were as follows: President, Mertice James; vice president and secretary, Marjorie Mackenzie; treasurer, Dorothy Brown.

MIDD. 0--STEVENS 0.

Misplays Prevent Blue and White Victory.

It has been said that there have been more upsets in football so far this fall than in any like period of time in previous years. Practically none of the big teams, in the east especially, have come up to expectations, and this also holds for the past few years. The answer may be that the smaller colleges are producing better teams and are finally coming into their own in the football world.

Be that as it may, the Middlebury team and its supporters were treated to a surprise by the Stevens team, which not only held the home team to a scoreless tie, but in the first half clearly outplayed them. They were only prevented from scoring by a fumble on the Middlebury one yard line.

The Middlebury team did not get started until the second half, and although there were times wben the ball was steadily advanced, they were too few and far between to produce a score. A good opportunity to score was missed when Midd. had a first down on the visitors' ten yard line, and tried to rush the line, with the result that they not only failed to gain but lost ten yards in the attempt.

The line as a whole charged high and low with the result that the men were either too late for the play or were easily put out of the way by their opponents. However the linemen are rangy and powerful and when they get to working well together, good results are to be expected.

The big redeeming feature was the brilliant work of the backfield men, especially Bower and Bresnahan. Lynch also got away with several good runs. Of the new men Curran at end showed up well, tackling sure and hard and providing good interference for the backs.

Capt. Webb of Stevens opened the game by kicking off to Keefe, who was downed on the 10 yard line. After Bower and Keefe had added five yards, Bresnahan slipped around end to the 25 yard line. Here the Stevens defense stiffened and Condit kicked out of bounds at the Midd. 40 yard line.

The visitors found openings in the Midd. line until the 25 yard line was reached and then on a triple, delayed pass, Koinkis placed the ball on the ten yard line for a first down. They plugged the line for nine yards when a fumble gave Middlebury the ball. Condit was hurried in his kick and sent the ball out of bounds on his own 12 yard line.

At this point Middlebury stiffened and the Stevens backs were thrown back for losses. After failing to complete a double and triple pass, a forward pass was attempted and it was captured by a Midd. back. Lynch, by good dodging, carried the ball to Midd's 44 yard line, but when Stevens held, Condit was forced to punt to Todd on the visitors' 35 yard line. They advanced, by means of line bucks and end runs, to the 20

The Football Situation.

Middlebury's football aspirations were given a rude jolt on Saturday last, when the heavy and fast Tufts' aggregation rolled up a sizeable score, which fact leads up to the matter of criticism of the coaching system heard about the campus since that date.

Pessimistic individuals are already beginning to predict that the present season bids fair to prove a failure, and they see nothing ahead but gloomy prospects. It is with this element of the student body that THE CAMPUS would have a word.

In the first place, indulgence in the useless practice of "crabbing" never helps win a football game. It never helps the institution nor the individual who indulges in it, but on the contrary it is harmful to both. In the second place, we dispute the imputation that the present season has to date been a failure. Amherst, with one of the best teams in her history, took the opening game by a narrow margin. Springfield found Middlebury the toughest proposition, for an opening contest, that she had tackled in years. Stevens, with a team that greatly outweighed Middlebury, was lucky to get away without a beating. Tufts by a highly developed, powerfully executed attack, and playing a bewildering open game, ran up 34 points, the record score to date. We have five games to play and most important of them all, the Vermont game.

Should Middlebury defeat Vermont we would hardly call the season a failure and THE CAMPUS suggests that every one suspend judgment on the football situation until the final curtain has been rung down, with, we hope, a Vermont scalp to our credit.

While Middlebury fared badly at the hands of Tufts, Vermont can find little solace in her 60-0 defeat by Dartmouth.

Yet Vermont is optimistically anticipating the Middlebury contest. She is coming down here with a green and gold host, bent upon winning that game. It is imperative, then, that every one of us do his part by loyally supporting Coach Holmes and the team. Let us put away our hammers and incidentally forget where we put them.

Who Said Middlebury?

(From Vermont Cynic.)

It's not too early to begin to talk about that Middlebury game, even though it is a month away. Middlebury says she is going to trim us this year! She has said those things before. Once or twice she has kept her word. Last year she held us to a scoreless game. She claims to have a stronger team this year than last, and is asking us what we are going to do about it. Well, what are we?

The team has been and is looking forward to this game. Coach Robinson says that the team will take Middlebury by storm if we will only stand behind it and give the men our support. Now it is up to us! We haven't taken a football or baseball trip for some time. This is our opportunity. Every man should be making his plans to go, so that there will be no conflicts on that date, the 20th of November. Remember how the whole of Middlebury College thronged up here to the baseball game last spring. We surely can show them that we stand behind our teams as well as they do. Come on, fellows, talk it up! Let our slogan be "A Special Train and Not Less Than 400 Men for the Middlebury Game."

Stick to the Walks.

"Walks are to walk on."—Isn't this almost the first information which greets the incoming freshman? Yet as soon as he arrives on the campus he sees his superiors constantly cutting across from the Chapel to the chemistry building.

Everyone agrees that although the short cut is convenient it is the one eyesore on the campus. We have turned a deaf ear to Billy Farrell's appeal, but can we not, for the pride we want to feel when we show our campus to our friends in the spring, get the habit of starting a few seconds earlier for class and sticking to the walks? Remember the familiar expression—"It is a little farther but it pays to walk—around."

Proper Emphasis

Where should the emphasis in our college life be placed? This is a question that often does not present itself until too late in one's college course. But why should it not? For how different would many of our courses be if we could have obtained a true scale of values at the beginning. What a glamour the big college dance holds forth for the student fresh from the restricted home or boarding school! How it raises a man's fighting blood to see for the first time his own college team win a hard fought game! How easy it is during the second year to follow the paths of least resistance. By the Junior year the habit of taking things easy is so strongly fixed that it is hard to break away. After the beginning of the Senior year the so-called student suddenly realizes that before the next year is over he will be on his own resources and the question arises, has he made the best possible preparation? In retrospection how often does he find his education one-sided and regret the opportunities of which he has not availed himself. Again we ask where should the emphasis in college life be placed?

History Repeats Itself.

Once more it seems necessary to call to the attention of the freshmen the desirability of forgetting some of their "prep school" customs. The faculty of Middlebury college are, on the whole, quite competent teachers and are capable of determining the mental calibre of the students without any volunteering on their part. It is an established custom among Middlebuty students to wait until called on by the Professor before reciting and not to raise their hands as an indication that they are desirous of giving the instructor the information he is seeking. It would be well for some of the freshmen to take notice of this and be a little more careful, in the future, in regard to their conduct in the class room.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor:

As a student of Middlebury and representing, as I believe, the sentiment of the student body at large, I wish to enter a strenuous protest to the recent action of the faculty in changing the hour of Sunday service from five o'olock to four in the afternoon.

Last year the students petitioned for the abolition of compulsory church attendance and were granted the compromise of choice between church and the five o'clock chapel service. They accepted this without protest. This year the faculty withdrew this option and made attendance at the chapel service compulsory. Again the students acceded without protest. Now the hour is changed from five to four without so much as obtaining the student sentiment in regard to it. This means that Sunday, the only day in the week which we have free, to some extent, is taken from us. It was not quite so bad when we could go directly from the service to the supper table but now Sunday afternoon will be broken into so that it will be no more of a holiday than any other day in the week. It seoms to me that, unless something it done to remedy this, a petition should be made to the faculty, either to re-establish the option of church or chapel or to put the chapel hour once more at five o'clock.

Signed,
A STUDENT.

An Appeal.

TO EVERY LOYAL MIDDLEBURY STUDENT:

The advertisers in the "Campus" complain that their advertising does not pay. They say that the advertiser is given no preference over the non-advertiser, in fact just the reverse seems to be the case in some instances. Does this seem quite fair? Its just as easy to keep in mind the names of those who advertise in the college publications and patronize them when possible and by so doing help us out, besides giving our advertisers a square deal.

Sophomores Entertain.

Friday evening, October 15, witnessed many strange performances in the gymnasium of Pearsons Hall, when the sophomores entertained the upper-class girls at the expense of the poor freshmen. Many noted personages were present, including Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle, the Siamese Twins, Charlie Chaplin and last, but not least, Joe Calvi and his wife. The collection of spirited animals would have done credit to any zoo. The freshmen had an opportunity to express their views on various subjects, from the table manners of the Seniors to the price of last season's "Coates." The entertainment closed with compliments from both sides. One freshman thought that Middlebury looked pretty well in the light of "Day," while the rest voted that the girls of 1919 were all good sports.

Campus Board Meeting.

The regular weekly meeting of the Campus board was held in the English room Tuesday afternoon, October 11.

After a tour of inspection, by the entire board, to the rooms in Starr Hall which have been turned over by the college for the use of the Campus board, a committee of four was elected to interview President Thomas in regard to furnishing them. As yet the only equipment on hand consists of a few folding chairs, a couple of tables, and a typewriter. It is thought that the addition of a few pictures, rugs, window shades, and comfortable chairs would make the offices more popular and conducive to more and better material for publication.

The appointment of P. C. Pelton was ratified by the board and K. W. Davis and N. M. Williams were elected as assistant business managers for the ensuing year.

Miss Harriet Myers, '16, was elected assistant editor-in-chief.

After discussions concerning the freshmen tryouts for positions on the board and certain features of the last issue of the Campus, the assignments for the next issue were given out. This completed the business for the day and the meeting adjourned.

Chapel Choir.

Announcement was made Monday morning at chapel by President Thomas of the proposed college choir, to be organized and trained for services in the Mead Memorial chapel. Dr. G. Watts Cunningham has been engaged to direct the choir, which will consist of a double octette of eight from each college. Rehearsals will begin shortly and continue until the new chapel is ready. A competitive system of trials is already being conducted, with a view to obtaining the sixteen best voices in college. The student body anticipates that the new choir will help materially in making services in the new chapel very impressive.

TUFTS 34---MIDDLEBURY 0.

While the result of the game may be somewhat discouraging, it must be remembered that Tufts has one of the best teams Middlebury has met in recent years. The Midd. team simply played by streaks, as in the third period when they continually threatened the Tufts goal line and outplayed the home team in all departments of the game. The power is there and the men are bound to show the stuff they are capable of in the remaining games.

The summary and lineup:

The Junior-Freshman Bat.

Who says that the Juniors and Freshmen are not devoted sisters? On Thursday, October 7, the Junior girls gave the girls of 1919 a merry bat down by the Otter Creek. A long procession of girls, each with her cup, collected on the banks just at sunset to ravage various lunch baskets and boxes. After the supper the girls provided themselves with sticks and toasted marshmallows around a bright fire. All the Middlebury songs and yells, together with numerous yells for 1917 and 1919, were given. Then the girls proceeded slowly back upon the hill, stopping on the way to greet each professor as they passed his house.

Upper Class Pledge Day.

Upper Class Pledge day was observed Wednesday, October 13, by the women's college The following girls were pledged: by Alpha Zeta of Alpha Chi, Lucia Besiegel, '16, Helen Diehl, '18; by Nu of Sigma Kappa, Mildred Jones, '15, and Louise Smeallie, '16; by Rho of Phi Mu Gamma, Dorothy Barr, '18, Eleanor Crane, '18, and Marion Elmer, '18.

"JOAKS"

Professor Wright, in English III, several people having failed to recall facts from old English Prose, gets exasperated: "I don't see how you can read such stuff and not forget it."

The '18 girls met one day last Spring
To try to think up some kind of a thing
To make the Freshmen feel so small
That they'd look up to '18, one and all.

And they decided the very best way
To keep the Freshmen from getting too gay,
Was to make each and every '19 class
Carry a doll or a bear to class.

So it was done as it has been decided,
Each Freshman herself with a toy provided,
And with proper spirit these Freshman girls
Took down their hair and wore it in curls.

Some dolls from Africa seemed to come
Decidedly Turkish the complexion of some,
The bear's, too, were varied in color and size,
And one even had electric eyes.

But no matter whether a doll or bear,
Every one was noted to wear
A little tag of red and white
Inscribed "I'm a Sophomore," in plain sight.

The professors thought it a very good joke,
And presently to the visitors spoke,
Inquired if they could German speak,
And what part of knowledge they did seek.

And the Freshmen, each and every one,
Took it all in a spirit of fun;
And though '18 they still revere,
They look upon them without a fear.

So here's to the 1919 girls
With your dolls and teddy-bears and curls,
That you're good sports we all can say
And the Freshmen will look up to you some day.

Sophomore Class Elects Officers.

Monday, October 18th, the Sophomores elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Urban Parker; vice-president, Miss Eleanor Crane; secretary, Miss Marion Dean; treasurer, Arthur Coleman; rules committee, chairman, John Lynch, Dake, Allyn, Everitt, Good, Wheelock and Fullington; Soph. Hop committee, Earle, chairman, Harris, Drew, Bartlett, Miss Dean, Miss Norris, Miss Champagne and Miss Henderson.

New Books at Library.

The library has recently purchased these books which college men would like to know about at this season of the year.

1. The Courage of the Commonplace, by M. R. Andrews. A story of Tap Day at Yale.
2. Modern Tennis, by P. A. Vaile. Fully illustrated from photographs, line drawings and diagrams, and will interest both the beginner and the skilled player,
3. Athletic Training, by "Mike" Murphy. Contains the results of thirty years spent in the development of track and field athletics as a science.

R. H. Buffum, who sustained an injured ankle during the hat scrap, is rapidly improving.

MIDD. SECONDS DEFEATED.

Rutland High School Boys Win by a Score of 13 to 7.

The Middlebury Second team lost to Rutland High school in a hard fought game last Tuesday afternoon. The game was an interesting one, nevertheless. There were numerous fumbles on the part of both teams, some of which proved to be very costly. Midd. was robbed of a fine chance to score through a fumble on the first quarter.

Hyland of Rutland with the aid of a forward pass made a touchdown in the first quarter.

In the second quarter Midd. showed fine strength, during which Lamere carried the pigskin over for a touchdown. Hubbard kicked a goal. At the beginning of the second half Hyland of Rutland again scored a touchdown and kicked a goal. Nothing happened during the fourth quarter.

The playing of Lamere, Hard, Anderson and Brigham was especially good for the Second team, Hyland and Thompson showing up well for Rutland. The teams were about evenly matched in weight.

The lineup:

RUTLAND	MIDD. SECOND
Hostler, r. g.	Good, l. e.
Wait, c.	U. Parker, l. t.
Hulihan, r. e.	A. Parker, l. g.

Athletic Association Takes Over Tennis Interests.

Wednesday morning, October 13, a meeting of the Tennis association was called after chapel, at which it was voted that the association should disband and that the management of tennis should be turned over to the Athletic association on the same basis as the other athletic departments. At a meeting of the athletic council on the afternoon of the same day it was voted to accept the tennis department and a committee was appointed to draw up the changes in the constitution necessary for the taking over of this department and the admission of the tennis manager to the athletic council. This is a step which the athletic department has been considering for some time and it is one which will be of benefit to the whole college, as it gives every one the free use of the courts upon payment of the regular athletic tax, instead of restricting their use to the few who are willing to pay an extra tax for the privilege.

yard line when Bresnahan interupted a forward pass. After two rushes, Condit punted to the Stevens' 40 yard line, as the half ended.

In the second half the situation was exactly the reverse of the first, as Stevens was on the defensive practically all the time. After Todd had returned Condit's kickoff to the 25 yard line, Webb and DeGehn plugged the line for first down. Here Midd. held and Webb punted to Bower, but as Midd. was offside, Stevens recovered the ball, which was put in play on her 35 yard line.

Stevens advanced to the center of the field, where Curran recovered a fumble, Condit was thrown for a five yard loss, but on the next play he made a nice pass to Hubbard, who carried the ball to the ten yard line. The Stevens line threw Bower and Lynch back for no gain and when Bresnahan tried a forward pass he slipped and was downed on the 20 yard line. This was Middlebury's only chance to score, but she did not have the final punch to push the ball over the line.

Neither team was dangerous during the remainder of the game, although Stevens showed some good offensive power just before the final whistle, when she advanced to the Middlebury 25 yard line.

Senior Class Meeting.

A meeting of the class of 1916 was held Thursday, October 14, 1915, in the Chapel. The following officers were elected :

President, Mr. Ferguson.
Vice-President, Miss Drake.
Treasurer, Mr. Ross.

For the office of secretary the vote was a tie between Miss Wright and Miss Carrigan. The voting had to be postponed until the next meeting because of the taking of the panaramic picture of the faculty and students.

Junior Class Meeting.

The election of officers in the Junior class took place Wednesday noon, October 13, in the rotunda of Warner Science hall. The results were: Earle Horsford, president; Miss Linnell, vice president; Arthur Vaughn, treasurer; and Miss Frost, secretary.

Ex-'17. Miss Miriam Cutler is taking a kindergarten course at Miss Wheelock's school in Boston.
